WHAT IS NY CONNECTS?

What is NY Connects?

The Delaware County NY Connects: Choices for Long Term Care is a free information and assistance service that is available to older adults, individuals with disabilities, and their families and caregivers, to help make informed decisions about long term services and support options.

NY Connects is a trusted place that gives you information about available options, whether you are paying for services yourself, through insurance, or are eligible for a government program.

What are Long Term Services and Supports?

Long term services and supports (also known as long term care) includes a range of services and supports that can help people of all ages remain independent in their daily living.

Long term services and supports are both medical and non-medical services that help to maintain or improve daily functioning and health. Services can be provided at home, in community-based settings such as a senior center, community center or day program, or residential settings such as assisted living, or nursing homes.

Who does NY Connects serve?

Anyone who needs information on long term services and supports is able to access NY Connects, such as:

- A child or an adult with a disability
- An older adult
- Family members and caregivers
- Friends or neighbors
- Helping professionals

Options Counseling

NY Connects helps individuals and families make informed choices about what services and supports will meet the individual's needs and preferences. Available options are presented and discussed to allow personal choice and decision making.

Help with Linking to Care

NY Connects is able to help link individuals to available long term services and supports.

What is Adult/Elder Abuse?

In general, adult or elder abuse is a term referring to any knowing, intentional, or negligent act by a caregiver or any other person that causes harm or a serious risk of harm to a vulnerable adult.

Physical Abuse: inflicting physical pain or injury (i.e. slapping, bruising, or restraining by physical or chemical means)

Sexual Abuse: non-consensual sexual contact of any kind

Neglect: the failure by those responsible to provide food, shelter, health care, or protection for a vulnerable elder

Exploitation: the illegal taking, misuse, or concealment of funds, property, or assets of a vulnerable adult for someone else's benefit

Emotional Abuse: inflicting mental pain, anguish, or distress on a vulnerable adult through verbal or non-verbal acts (i.e. humiliation, intimidation, or threatening)

Abandonment: desertion of a vulnerable elder by anyone who has assumed the responsibility for care or custody of that person.

Self-Neglect: characterized as the failure of a person to perform essential, self-care tasks and that such failure threatens his/her own health or safety.

WHAT IS RESPITE CARE? A BREAK FOR THE CAREGIVER

Taking care of an older or ill family member can be enormously rewarding — but it can be physically and emotionally draining as well. That's why it's important for caregivers to seek occasional respite from their responsibilities. Whether it's for a few hours a week to run errands or a few weeks a year to take a much-needed vacation, respite care offers you the chance reduce stress, restore energy and keep your life in balance.

1. Involve your loved one. When planning for time off from your caregiving duties, make sure to keep your loved one in the loop. Get their input in deciding how much time you will be away — and who will fill in for you when you're gone. Make sure to tell them that they will benefit from you being more relaxed and refreshed. And assure them that they will also reap rewards from socializing with other people.
2. Assess your needs. Make a list of what care will be needed in your absence. Also decide if the respite care provider will need any special skills or training to be able to stay with your parent. If so, understand that your options for respite caregivers may be more limited.
3. Stay organized. Use a calendar to assist you with helpers or check out online tools such as Lotsa Helping Hands or CarePages to keep track of appointments and send requests to friends and family. Don't forget to include time for yourself and note it on the calendar.

Salvation Army

Web: www.empire.salvationarmy.org

Phone: (315) 877-6079

In disaster relief operations, The Salvation Army's first aim is to meet the basic needs of those affected. They are available in all facets of disaster, including emergency preparedness, immediate emergency response, long-term disaster recovery, and emotional and spiritual care.

The first line of defense against the effects of a disaster is personal preparedness. During an emergency, the government and other agencies may not be able to reach you, or meet your needs immediately. It is important for all citizens to make their own emergency plans and prepare for their own care and safety in an emergency.

Tips To Be Prepared

- ❖ Know your area and what potential disasters might occur
- ❖ Learn evacuation routes (for your home AND community) as well as shelter locations
- ❖ Know how you'll reconnect with family and people who matter. Keep a list of emergency contacts and a back-up plan if phone service (cell or landline) is not available.
- ❖ Sign up for emergency alerts and know how officials will communicate with you during a disaster (Radio, television, cell phone, etc)
- ❖ Learn what to do if you're caught away from home (i.e. work, school, vehicle). Know your evacuation routes and how you'll reconnect with family who may also be in various locations by setting up a meeting place.
- ❖ Have a kit and know how to use it. Basic items should include food, water, basic first aid, flashlights, etc.
- ❖ Keep in mind people who may need special preparation such as young children, frail older adults, or people with disabilities.
- ❖ Prepare for your pets. Have an emergency kit ready, and a location they can go to if evacuation is necessary.

More detailed information is available through Delaware County Emergency Services, the American Red Cross, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and the Department of Homeland Security.

Weatherization

Delaware Opportunities, Inc.

35430 State Hwy 10, Hamden, NY 13782

Web: www.delawareopportunities.org/weatherization

Hours : 8:00am – 4:00pm, Mon – Fri

Typical weatherization measures might include: caulking, window repair, and insulation in sidewalls and attic to stop the infiltration of cold to the home. The furnace in each home is tested for efficiency, and minor repairs are made to achieve at least a 75% efficiency rating. Furnaces which cannot be made efficient, or which are not operating are repaired or replaced. The heat distribution system is also analyzed. In addition to heating measures, the program reduces energy use through such measures as replacing inefficient light bulbs, installing low flow shower heads, replacing hot water heaters and other measures.

New York State Lifeline Discounted Telephone Program

Web: www.askpsc.com

Phone: (888) 275-7721

New York State Lifeline Discounted Telephone Service is an assistance program offered by many telephone providers, including some wireless and cable companies, to help income-eligible consumers save money on their phone bills. In order to apply, households should contact their telephone provider directly.

Tips To Reduce Energy Costs

- Take shorter showers to reduce water heating costs.
- Don't waste money on electronics or appliances not in use. Turn off and unplug TVs and DVD players, computers, phone chargers, coffee makers, etc.
- Wash full loads of laundry using cold water. Today's modern detergents work great in cold water, and about 90 percent of the energy used by clothes washers goes to water heating.
- Use your clothes dryer for consecutive loads. The built-up heat means less energy spent.
- Better yet, hang laundry outside. Take advantage of late sunsets and warm evenings to bypass your dryer and let your clothes air dry.
- Turn off lights.
- Don't let the hot water run. Turn it off when it's not needed while brushing teeth, shaving or doing dishes.

Benefits of Physical Activity

People with disabilities or mobility issues can still achieve important health benefits by being as physically active as possible. Physical activity can help:

- Maintain and improve physical strength and stamina
- Improve a person’s ability to do thing they want to do
- Improve balance, reducing the risk for falls
- Manage and prevent diseases like diabetes, heart disease, breast and colon cancer, and osteoporosis
- Reduce feelings of depression, improve mood and overall well-being, and may improve or maintain cognitive function.

Note: Older adults and persons with disabilities should first consult a physician before beginning a program of physical activity to which they are unaccustomed.

What's the process for moving into a nursing home?

Nursing homes are places to live where care is available for people who need 24-hour care and supervision outside of a hospital. When you or a loved one require this level of care, and are unable to remain at home any longer, the below steps will help in this transition.

The first step is to consider several nursing home options. There may not be space available at the nursing home that is your first choice, so it is helpful to have a few in mind. You will then contact the Admissions office of the facility of your choice. They will be able to explain the requirements for admission to their facility. They will provide you with applications, which generally include one for you or your caregiver/family to complete, and one for your doctor to complete. In addition, a PRI (Patient Review Instrument) and Screen will need to be completed by a certified Registered Nurse, employed by a Certified Home Health Agency (CHHA). In Delaware County, the two CHHAs include At Home Care or HCR Home Care. There is an out-of-pocket charge if you are not already enrolled in Medicaid, which must be paid at the time of completion.

If you are receiving care in a hospital, your doctor and the hospital Social Worker/ Discharge Planner will assist in making arrangements for your placement, preferably in the nursing home of your choice. By telling the hospital which nursing homes to apply to, you or your family can influence the location of the eventual placement.

For most families, financial assistance is needed in order to cover the cost of care in a facility. An application and eligibility guidelines for Chronic Care Medicaid are available through the Delaware County Department of Social Services.

Helios Care provides care and support to patients with a life-limiting illness and supports families so they can care for their loved one. Emphasis is on optimum comfort measures that allow the patient to live as fully and comfortably as possible, with services in the home, in a hospital, or nursing home. 24-hour on-call support is also available.

Although many people are familiar with Hospice, few are as knowledgeable or aware of what Palliative Care provides. Below is an overview, courtesy of Catskill Area Hospice and Palliative Care.

What is Palliative Care?

Palliative Care helps families and patients “feel better” who are experiencing a variety of symptoms and side effects from their serious, ongoing illness. Palliative Care is provided by the team of expert professionals at home or in a variety of other settings. The team works with you to develop a custom solution. A key focus of Palliative Care is to help identify your choices and what matters most to you.

How does Palliative Care work?

Palliative Care provides an extra layer of care and support along with your current and ongoing treatments. Palliative Care gives you a chance to live your life more comfortably and improve everyone’s quality of life.

What is the difference between Hospice Care and Palliative Care?

Hospice Care focuses on the final six months of life. Palliative Care is often provided to people while they undergo curative treatments where symptoms and side effects are quite common.

Health Care Proxy

Allows you to appoint someone you trust to make health care decisions on your behalf if you are no longer able to do so.

Living Will

A Living Will is a written declaration of your health care wishes, which allows you to leave specific instructions about medical treatments you may or may not want, when you are no longer able to decide for yourself.

Do Not Resuscitate Order (DNR)

A DNR Order instructs medical professionals not to perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), that is, emergency treatment to restart your heart or lungs when your heartbeat or breathing stops.

Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment (MOLST)

The MOLST form allows doctors to record your preferences regarding cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), mechanical intervention, and other life sustaining treatments. MOLST must be completed by a health care professional and signed by a New York State licensed physician to be valid. A valid MOLST form serves as a "Physician Order Form" and can be transferred with you from one health care setting to another.

Power of Attorney

NYS Bar association

Web: www.nysba.org/WorkArea/DownloadAsset.aspx?id=22346

Provides a sample Power of Attorney form. These forms can be obtained at the Office for the Aging or local attorney offices for free.

Power of Attorney

What is a Power of Attorney?

A power of attorney is a legal document whereby one person (the Principal) gives legal authority to another person or persons (the Agents).

What are the different types of Powers of Attorney?

There are three kinds of Powers of Attorney in New York State.

If a person signs a Non-durable Power of Attorney (s)he gives the agent certain powers that take effect immediately. The power remains in effect only until the person dies, becomes incapacitated or revokes the power.

If a person signs a Durable Power of Attorney, (s)he gives the agent certain powers that take effect immediately and continue until the person dies or revokes the power. With this kind of power of attorney, the agent can continue to exercise the powers granted after the person becomes incapacitated.

If a person signs a Springing Power of Attorney, (s)he gives the agent certain powers that only go into effect upon a future condition, such as the person being declared incompetent by a physician. Once activated, this power remains in effect until the person dies or the power is revoked.

What kinds of powers can I grant with a Power of Attorney form?

You can grant the following powers with any of the above Power of Attorney forms:

- Buy and sell property
- Banking transactions
- Invest your money
- Start legal claims or represent in legal matters
- Handle tax and retirement matters
- Manage your property

Important: You can choose to give one or more powers to the agent. You do not have to give all of the powers to the agent.

The road to recovery doesn't have to wait until after surgery. In fact, two aspects of the surgical experience critical to achieving a successful recovery are pre- and post-operative rehabilitation.

Pre-Operative Rehabilitation

Most of us are familiar with a comprehensive post-operative rehabilitation program designed to promote healing, reduce pain and swelling, restore joint mobility, flexibility and strength. However, many of us are not aware of the benefits of a structured pre-operative or "pre-habilitation" program.

This is a program designed by your physical therapists to help you prior to surgery so that you can have a great outcome after surgery. The goals of a pre-habilitation program:

- Mentally prepare for surgery
- Reduce pain and inflammation
- Restore range of motion
- Improving muscular control of the injured joint
- Normalizing movement patterns prior to your surgery
- Improved overall well-being and fitness
- Gain a good understanding of the exercises that you will perform immediately after surgery

Post-Operative Rehabilitation

Physical therapy is typically indicated following an orthopedic surgery such as operations on the hip, knee, shoulder, wrist, hand, neck, foot, ankle, and spine to facilitate a speedy recovery. Physical therapy can start anywhere from a few hours to a few days after surgery and in some cases there may be a period of immobilization following surgery.

A patient's ability to regain motion and strength and ultimately return to their daily activities depend on physical therapy. The body will not regain normal motion without specific retraining. Physical therapists are specifically trained to restore range of motion and strength without compensation and to prevent re-injury during the recovery process. The therapist can also provide the patient with specific guidelines to allow optimal healing.

After a thorough evaluation by a physical therapist, goals will be set to minimize the adverse effects of surgery such as pain and swelling as well as to restore normal movement, flexibility and function. The therapist and patient will work together to establish functional goals related to resuming normal activities of living as well as preventing an injury from recurring. The therapist will then design an exercise program tailored specific to the patient's needs and abilities, and work.

Therapy is often divided into distinct phases. The first comes immediately after surgery when the body part may be immobilized while pain and swelling subside. Then comes a series of progressively challenging exercises to restore range of motion, stability, and strength. The final goal is to return the patient to a pre-injury activity level. Post-operative treatments may specifically include:

- Strategies for pain reduction including modalities such as ice, heat, and electrical stimulation
- Flexibility exercises to improve range of motion
- Exercises to strengthen muscles
- Posture, balance, and coordination training
- Gait analysis and training
- Manual therapy techniques
- Self-care training
- Home exercise instruction

What Does “Healthy” Eating Mean?

According to the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, a healthy diet:

- ❖ Emphasizes vegetables, fruits, whole grains, and fat-free or low-fat milk products.
- ❖ Includes lean meats, poultry, fish, beans, eggs, and nuts.
- ❖ Is low in saturated fats, trans fats, cholesterol, salt, and added sugars.
- ❖ Balances the calories you take in from food and beverages with the calories burned through physical activity to maintain a healthy weight.

Here are some tips to help you meet the guidelines:

- ❖ Eating fruits and vegetables of different colors gives your body a wide range of valuable nutrients.
- ❖ Include foods that contain fiber such as fruits, vegetables, beans, and whole grains.
- ❖ Eat lean cuts of meat and poultry. Trim away excess fat and remove skin from poultry before cooking.
- ❖ Pay attention to portion sizes, especially at restaurants. Smaller portions equal fewer calories.
- ❖ Season your food with lemon juice, herbs, and spices, rather than using butter and salt.
- ❖ Choose foods that are baked, broiled, braised, grilled, steamed, sautéed, or boiled, rather than fried.
- ❖ When eating out, select a dish from the menu, rather than getting your money’s worth at the all-you-can-eat buffet.

Planning For Your Pet

Very often, pets of older adults are surrendered to the care of local animal shelters because there was no plan in place for the pets' care when emergencies occurred. Sadly, this causes a lot of stress for the older adult who is ill and for the pet who is confused as to why it is not in its own home.

For many older adults, pets are an important and comforting part of life, and planning for the care and well-being of their pets is essential in the event of their illness, short or long-term hospitalization, or death. The best time to plan and provide for a pet is before an emergency happens.

It is recommended that owners try to find a trusted friend or relative who is willing to be the designated guardian or caretaker for pets before an emergency occurs. It is important for the owner to have instructions for the care of their pets readily available in the event of an emergency and leave a key and make arrangements for someone to be able to enter a home or apartment to care for the pets.

The above two programs through the Humane Society are designed to help in these types of situations. Older adults can either adopt pets who need a new home or foster a pet temporarily. Below is also a list of "pet sitting" options where owners can set up temporary care for their pet in the event of an emergency or other type of short-term care need.

What You Should Know About Medication Disposal

Medicines play an important role in treating many conditions and diseases. When they are no longer needed, it is important to dispose of them properly to help reduce harm from accidental exposure or intentional misuse. Below are some options and special instructions for you to consider when disposing of expired, unwanted, or unused medicines.

Transfer Unused Medicine to Authorized Collectors for Disposal

Consumers and caregivers should remove expired, unwanted, or unused medicines from their home as quickly as possible to help reduce the chance that others may accidentally take or intentionally misuse the unneeded medicine. Medicine take-back programs are a good way to safely dispose of most types of unneeded medicines. Contact your local law enforcement agency to see if they sponsor medicine take-back programs in your community (listed above).

Flushing of Certain Medicines

There is a small number of medicines that may be especially harmful and, in some cases, fatal with just one dose if they are used by someone other than the person for whom the medicine was prescribed. This list from FDA tells you what expired, unwanted, or unused medicines you should flush down the sink or toilet to help prevent danger to people and pets in the home.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Social Security provides income to retired workers, certain family members, survivors, and individuals with a disability.

Phone: (607) 433-6607

Alternate Phone: (877) 628-6581

Understanding Social Security

Social Security was established in 1935 as a “pay as you go” program to provide economic security for certain retirees. Today, Social Security has expanded to provide a certain level of retirement income to almost all retired workers, certain family members, survivors, and also provides income for individuals who have become disabled. The major programs through Social Security include:

Retirement

Social Security’s retirement program provides a lifetime monthly income for qualified workers once they reach retirement age. Although workers can begin receiving retirement benefits as early as age 62, the benefit amount received will be reduced by approximately 32.5%. Full retirement age varies depending on the year a person was born, but typically ranges from age 65 to 67. The amount of retirement benefits a person receives depends on the amount of income the individual received when working. The higher the income, the higher the Social Security benefit.

Survivors

Social Security’s survivors program provides a monthly lifetime income to the surviving spouse of a deceased worker once the spouse reaches retirement age. Similar to retirement benefits, the amount of the benefit depends on the amount of income received when working, however includes both spouses’ incomes. Benefits are also available to dependent children and the surviving spouse caring for them, until the children reach the age of 18.

Disability

Social Security provides a monthly lifetime income for disability benefits if the individual has worked long enough and has a medical condition that has prevented work, or is expected to prevent working for at least 12 months or end in death. These benefits may also be available to the spouse and any children under the age of 18.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

SSI is a federal program that provides monthly payments to people who have a low income and few resources, and who are either age 65 and older, blind, or disabled.

For more information, you can visit www.ssa.gov or call (800) 772-1213. Social Security provides several easy to read guides that provide additional information about each of the above programs.
